

Lesung mit Alec Ash (auf Englisch)

Dienstag, 30. Januar 2018, 10:30 – 12:00 Uhr in der Aula, Gymnasium Liestal

British author and journalist Alec Ash has moved to Beijing almost a decade ago. His latest book, a literary nonfiction called Wish Lanterns, follows the lives of six of young Chinese millennials born from 1985 to 1990 as they grow up in a rapidly changing country and start their careers. It paints a rich picture of contemporary China, its future challenges, and manages to convey a lot of insights on Chinese politics and its fast-changing society.

For the first time in Switzerland, Alec Ash is reading selected parts of his book as well as discussing how he has experienced a very transitional and diverse generation of young Chinese and what changes he has observed since then. The conversation will be moderated by Nico Luchsinger of Asia Society Switzerland.
